

This speech of Judah's had such an effect upon Joseph, that he could no longer restrain the tender emotions of his soul, but was obliged to make himself known to them. But this we reserve for the next chapter.

C H A

Joseph makes himself known to his brothers other Circumstances

JOSEPH was too strong any reply to what his affections were
D